Seminar Report on Economical Effect of Corona Pandemic

The global epidemic of Corona has hit the Indian economy along with the rest of the world. It affected almost all sectors of the Indian economy. To discuss this, an online discussion session on "Economic Consequences of Corona Epidemic" was organized for the college students on 25th January 2022 by the Department of Economics.

The Corona epidemic affected all sectors of production, income, employment, agriculture, industry, banking, services, education, health, etc. in India. The economy has suffered huge losses and it is likely to take a long time to recover. Unemployment and starvation are two major problems facing the people of India. The use of online and digital methods instead of the old classroom methods in education has increased tremendously. But accepting it created many problems for students in rural areas. It is extremely difficult for rural students to purchase materials required for online or digital education.

Even so, Everybody realized that this new method of teaching is the need of the hour and rural students and parents have also started adopting it. Many transactions have taken place online and it has become imperative to adapt to the changing situation. Teachers, parents and students in particular need to think positively and the government needs to plan and implement appropriate policies and programs by allocating special budget for this purpose. Such an opinion was expressed by the students.

The event was organized under the chairmanship of Hon'ble Principal Dr. Jayant M. Chatur. The introductory speech of the program was given by Prof.Dr. Sanjay Rachalwar (Head, Dept. of Economics, Smt. Nankibai Wadhvani Arts College, Yavatmal), moderated by Kunal Patil and thanked by Aditya Pawar.
