Report on Gender Equality and Status of Women

On Dated 16 Sep 2022

Male and female are two progressive wheels (chakras) on this earth. Looking at the equality between men and women and the status of women, we can see that there has been progress in all areas in social, economic, educational and political terms in modern times. Be it in the field of cultural art form or scientific thought literature or modern advanced technology.

Knowledge is developing since time immemorial. But in this hectic life and technology world there are also some responsibility challenges. From the point of view of getting information to the students, a program was organized by Asst. Prof. Vandana Ingole (HOD Music) on the topic of Gender equality (men and women) and the status of women on Friday. Dated on 16 Sep 2022.

Advocate Nilima Joshi (Yavatmal District Sessions Court, Yavatmal.)

The chief guide of this program Hon. Adv. Nilima Joshi, (Yavatmal District Sessions Court, Yavatmal.) On this occasion she said that independence is not arbitrariness but an open environment to become a responsible citizen. She shed light on the various laws made from the point of view of women's safety and the past and present status of women. No one is above the law. She said while expressing her thoughts.
