Report on the Mushroom Business Guidance Program organized by Rajarshi Shahu
Maharaj Self-Employment and Guidance Committee

Date- 4 September 2025

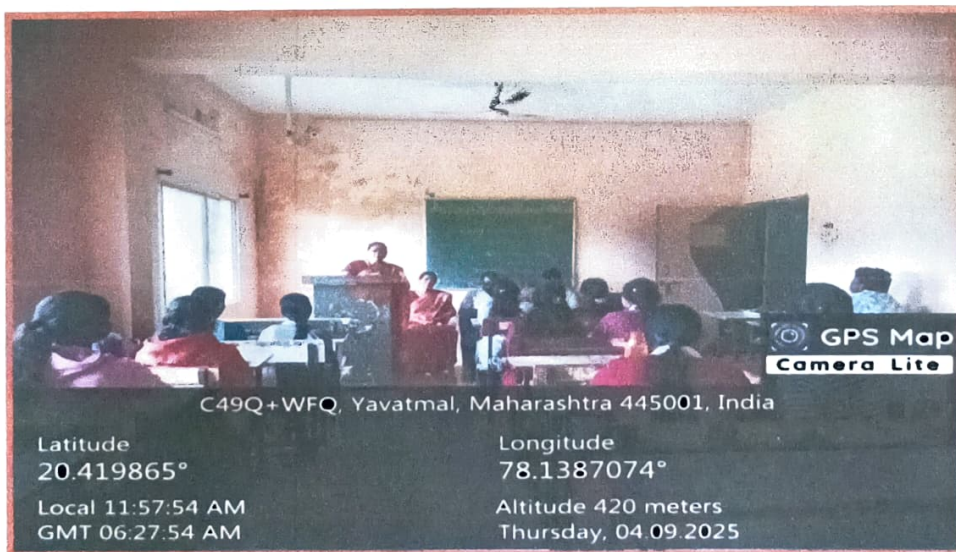

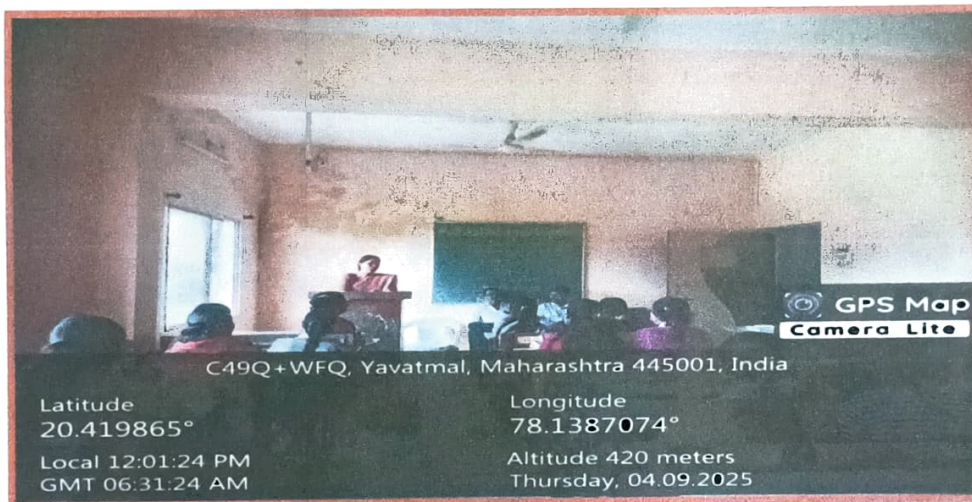

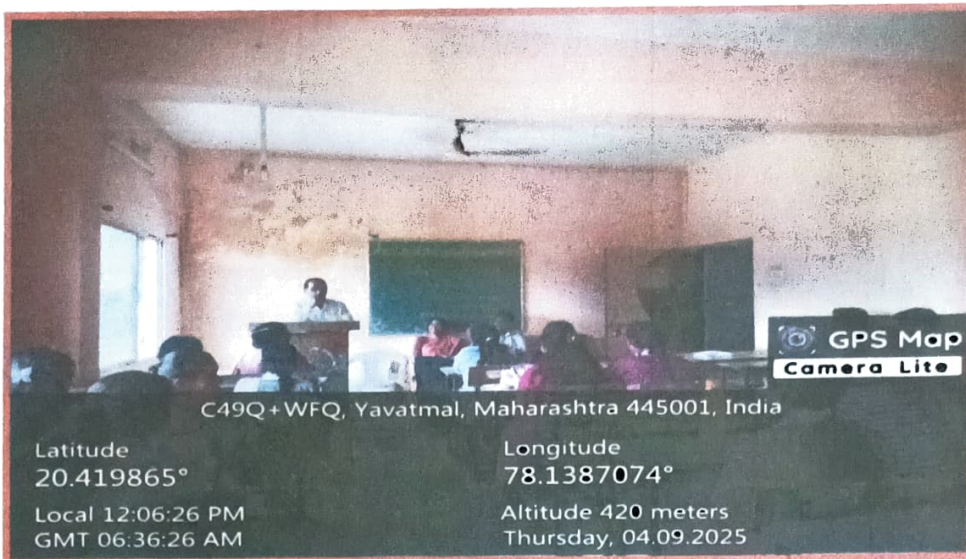

With the objective of providing employment and self-employment opportunities to college students alongside their university curriculum, and to help them achieve financial independence, the Rajarshi Shahu Maharaj Self-Employment and Career Guidance Center at Smt. Nankibai Wadhvani Mahavidyalaya organized a Mushroom Business Guidance Program on 4 September 2025. Mr. Sunil Kamble from Nikhil Mushroom Production, Pahur Rehabilitation, Yavatmal, was invited as the resource person to provide guidance on mushroom cultivation as a business venture. Mr. Kamble delivered a comprehensive presentation covering various aspects of mushroom cultivation, including different types of mushrooms, their nutritional benefits, and the viability of mushroom farming as a self-employment opportunity. During his address, Mr. Kamble emphasized the importance of skill development through training for students aspiring to become self-employed. He highlighted that mushrooms are highly beneficial for boosting the immune system and overall health. He explained that mushroom cultivation requires minimal capital investment and space, making it an accessible business venture for ordinary individuals seeking self-employment. He further elaborated that mushrooms are rich in vitamins and minerals, and their regular consumption improves cardiovascular health, making them an excellent addition to one's diet.

The program was organized by Prof. Dr. Vishakha Dere, Head of the Sociology Department. The success of the program was achieved under the able guidance of Dr. Jayant Chatur, Principal of the college. Prof. Dr. Kalpana Godghate coordinated the program proceedings, while Prof. Dr. Vishakha Dere delivered the introductory remarks and vote of thanks. The program was attended by B.A. students of the college.
